Mrs. Verwer

Lost

In the sea,
Their bodies lay,
All those who
Went away,
So we would
Not worry
Everyday,
And then
Never come
Home again,
Some were found,
Others were not,
Bound to us,
They are now gone,
Forever lost,
Never to be found

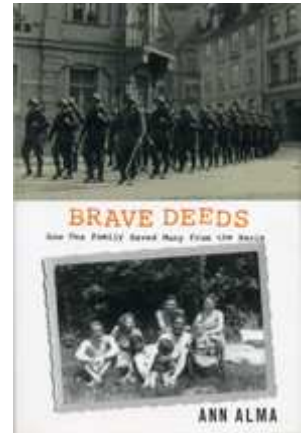

From Between the Pages...

Can people work together to survive?

Through the eyes of a child narrator we are led through the emotional landscape of fear, loss and love as a child refugee finds shelter in the caring arms of the Braal family. Set in Holland during the final days of the World War II each chapter presents a new challenge which requires cooperative spirit to overcome dangers of conflict. Although Brave Deeds is a story over sixty years old, the lessons shared are very relevant today.

This book has been nominated for the Golden Oak Award, as part of the Forest of Reading program.
